

Aquabridge Law is a multi-discipline law firm with offices in Essex and Suffolk servicing both business and private clients. We have a culture that challenges the conventional law firm approach and focuses our energy on getting great results for our clients, while attracting and developing brilliant people.

The Private Client Team

The business began as a corporate commercial law firm and has expanded into other areas, most recently adding a private client division into its offering. The team operate with a commercial focus and give specialist advice to a wide spectrum of clients. The work undertaken includes:

- Will drafting
- Creation, administration and termination of trusts
- Drafting and advising on Lasting Powers of Attorney
- Succession planning
- Tax efficient lifetime giving
- Advice to trustees and beneficiaries
- Obtaining Grants of Administration and the administration of estates.

The team are professional, energetic and passionate about what they do, putting client's needs at the forefront of their service. With a diverse client base, the team deal with a variety of situations and experience clients from all walks of life, working closely with them to become their trusted advisors and planning for every eventuality.

With an office in Chelmsford and another in Felixstowe, the team is expected to be able to work out of both offices, as well as carrying out the usual client visits and networking with professional contacts in order to bring in new business.

The candidate

A private client solicitor or legal professional with at least 4 years PQE gained within a well regarded city, regional or national firm with a well-developed knowledge in all aspects of private client practice. The ability to drive and their own transport is essential to fulfil the role.
